

Volunteering with CoderDojo

Why volunteer with CoderDojo?

The opportunity to help young people develop new skills and explore their creativity is very rewarding. Also, it's a lot of fun!

How can I help out a Dojo?

Running a Dojo can be a lot of work, so there are lots of ways you can help out!

You could become a Dojo mentor and help young people learn to code. You don't even need technical skills for the basics!

You could help with setting up the space and recording attendance at the Dojo.

Most Dojos have a social media presence or website that you could help run, or setup!

How do I get involved?

If you want to get involved you need to find a Dojo in your area and get in touch with the Champion (Dojo organiser) to offer to help out. If you're already involved, for example as a parent, just talk to them at the next Dojo!

How do I find a Dojo?

To find a Dojo in your area go to <http://dojo.soy/volunteer> and follow the instructions there!

What if there isn't a Dojo near me?

You can set one up! Go to <http://dojo.soy/champion> to learn more and get started!
